

Easily identify and address key areas for performance advancement

Clinicians are constantly pulled in varying directions and are balancing an array of priorities, so it can be challenging to engage them in professional improvement initiatives. The trick? Use data to demonstrate how clinicians will benefit from simple changes in documentation and coding practices.

Using the robust analytics available in Physician Insights, you can identify billing and coding audit risk for professional claims line items, find unspecified code usage, and compare E&M by specialty with benchmarking based on Medicare Part B Physician/Supplier procedure summary data (PSPPS).
